Carol J. Baker, MD, FAAP, is executive director of the Center for Vaccine Awareness and Research at Texas Children's Hospital and professor of pediatrics and of molecular virology and microbiology at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, TX. She has served as chair of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices, on the AAP Committee on Infectious Diseases, as associate editor of multiple editions of Red Book, and as editor of the first 2 editions of Red Book Atlas.

A great combination of content and photo plates for visual learners.

Condition as stated, thanks!

Delivered as promised! Thank you.

Very helpful in my pedi courses! Could not of succeeded without the info. Easy to use. I highly recommend this book

The kindle version of this book is just one chapter. I purchased it to find out it is only forty pages (as detailed by description). I sadly had to return it within one hour of purchase.
