I've used the Alfred's Mozart Mouse for my younger students, (ages 5 & 6) for years. It's fun for them. They're guided through the basics while being entertained by the stories of Beethoven Bear and Mozart Mouse. Super for kids who are starting out and are very young. If they in first grade, this series often feels "babyish" to them. I recommend it for pre-K and K.

My students are between 4-9 year old, and I use the Music for Little Mozarts curriculum. They love Beethoven Bear, Mozart Mouse and the Music Friends, and I love the pace of the lessons for the 4-6 age group. Nice and slow so my students can be successful, yet easy to assign extra for those students that practice well and would benefit from being given more to work on.

Super easy to follow, my 3yr old loves it

The Lesson book is fun, cute, and educational. I'm using this book to teach my 6 year old daughter piano. I play the piano myself so I teach her a little bit of how I was taught when I was her age. I just wished I had this lesson book back in the day. It has activities and coloring that are cute and easy. You can probably use it for starting at 4, maybe even 3 years old.

another great book to start teaching little one.

We bought this at the advice of our piano teacher to accompany the workbook. So far, our 5-year old son loves piano! This book helps make it fun!

Wonderful for the beginner! My son is 3 and just LOVES it. Tip: get the matching stickers if you can, and look for the recital book as well.
