Sudoku was great - Kakuro is better. -- Guardian, UK

Timothy Eric Parker is the world's most syndicated crossword compiler according to the Guinness Book of World Records. In 1996, Parker's dual interests in computers and crosswords converged and he developed an interactive crossword that became the Web's first syndicated crossword puzzle. In 1999, Parker formed Master Puzzles, Inc., bringing together the talents of over sixty of the world's top puzzle masters into one well-managed organization.

As I enjoy kakuro, I really like the book. I only gave it 4 stars, as I find it hard to remove just one page, when I want to carry just one page, to the school where I am working that day. Beyond that one complaint, it is a good: it is clearly printed: the instructions and helps are well written and: the progress of the puzzles is consistent and well done. Enjoy!

Like this book a lot but would prefer bigger puzzles on each page. Having three levels gives you an idea of how long it will take to do a puzzle. Will buy book 2 when I have finished this one.

Can't read the numbers black with white letters that are too small.

This was a gift for hubby who enjoys Suduko daily...the jury is still out.

Love it

Good a little less quality in the paper and print but it works and for the price it is ok.

OK, I love these puzzles, but honestly, they are NOT books, so rating them is a bit silly, they are what they are!

This was a gift for my husband, he had this one before and loved it so I got it again. There so many puzzles that it feels new. He loves it.
